CURTAIN AT OLIVER RISES AT 8 SHARP

Probably the most important event of the theatrical season here will be the appearance at the Oliver theater this evening of those distinguished stars, E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe, in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night."

The house is entirely sold out and has been for several days and many people turned away disappointed because there were no seats to be had. Those who were fortunate to secure tickets should remember that the curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock and all are requested to be in their seats at that time, as Miss Marlowe is on the stage at the rise of the curtain and objects to any one being seated after the performance starts.

It has been the custom of the Oliver theater in the past to start performances at 8:15 o'clock, but patrons must bear in mind this new arrangement.

The name of Sothern and Marlowe in the theatrical world calls for little comment, as it might be compared to advertising the Atlantic ocean. Their interpretation of the leading roles in this Shakespearean production leave nothing to be desired, it is said.

BLUE BONNET.

Billie Rhodes, clever little screen star, will be seen at the Oliver theater Saturday in "The Blue Bonnet," said to be the best production this popular player has yet appeared in. The picture tells a gripping story of a Salvation Army captain and while the piece abounds in tense dramatic scenes there are said to be many comedy situations. The picture will be shown continuously Saturday only, starting at 1 o'clock.

EYES OF YOUTH.

In "The Eyes of Youth," which will be the attraction at the Oliver theater for an entire week, opening Sunday, Clara Kimball Young has the best cast of players that has yet characterized any of her productions. Gareth Hughes, Vincent Serrano, Pauline Starke, Edmund Lowe, Milton Sills, Ralph Lewis, Sam Sothern and Edward Kimball, all have important roles.

"Eyes of Youth" is said to be the very best picture Miss Young has ever been seen in.

AUDITORIUM.

"When the Clouds Roll By," starring Douglas Fairbanks, is the attraction at the Auditorium today and tomorrow. In this production "Doug" has broken away from the traditional screen stories and has produced a rip-roaring comedy on entirely different lines. The acrobatic comedian performs some daring stunts and one of the most thrilling scenes in the production is the flood in which houses, churches, trees, etc., are swept away by the waters rushing down the mountains. The Gaumont weekly of late events will also be on the bill.

ORPHEUM.

A farce with musical trimmings entitled "Among Those Present," headlines the bill of vaudeville which is given final showing at the Orpheum today. Other acts of merit are presented by Laura Bennett and company, Harry Gilbert, singing comedian, Nao and Rizzo in a musical novelty and the Puppets, offering a vaudeville surprise. "You'd Be Surprised" is the humorous title of the musical comedy which tops the bill for the last three days of the week starting tomorrow. Billy Zeck and Jack O'Malley are the comedians while singing honors go to pretty Gladys Randolph, Tom Mahoney, Bond and Wilson and Willette and Wilson and Van, round out the program.

LASALLE.

The game of chess, the game of love and the game of life, are strangely interwoven in a photoplay of mystery and suspense, entitled "His Wife's Friend" and featuring beautiful Dorothy Dalton at the Lasalle today. It is Miss Dalton's first picture since her wonderful stage success in "Aphrodite" now playing in New York. The story is one that leads through scandal, mystery and crime, to a wonderful and new love between man and woman. It is vital, gripping, startling.

Tomorrow, Geraldine Farrar is featured in "The World and Its Woman."

CASTLE.

Chinese cunning, intrigue and thrills are dominating notes in "The Tong Man," pictured from Clyde Westover's novel. "The Dragon's Daughter" and presenting Sessue Hayakawa in one of the best roles of his brilliant career. Shown at the Castle today, tells of the love of a low-caste Chinaman for the pretty daughter of a San Francisco shop-keeper, and of his strange and at times dangerous method of wooing her. Helen Eddy is seen to good advantage as the Chinese maiden.

Tomorrow, "His Wife's Friend" stars Dorothy Dalton.

INDICT MEN WHO CAUSED WOOD ALCOHOL DEATHS

By Associated Press:

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—John Romanelli, a Brooklyn undertaker, and four other men, were indicted today charged with stealing wood alcohol which, mixed with water, burned sugar and flavoring extracts, caused scores of deaths in New Haven, Conn.; Chicopee, Mass., and other New England cities. William Woller and Casimo d'Ambrosio, truckmen, and Carmine Lenzisanti and Salvatore Esposito were the others indicted.

It is alleged that Romanelli and the truckmen stole the alcohol from a chemical company export shipment, substituting water for the alcohol. Then, it is charged, the alcohol was sold to Lenzisanti and Esposito for $23,500 and prepared for sale as whiskey.

The men pleaded not guilty and were released on bail. Samuel K. Salsbery, a Brooklyn druggist, who was arrested on a similar charge, is awaiting a hearing in connection with the case.

"SHIMMY HALL."

DETROIT, Mich. — Theodore Shook, colored, was to be tried here today on the charge of "running a shimmy hall." Shook denied there was anything loose about his place.
